Credits (if necessary) - formal expression of gratitude to individual organizations and individuals, who contributed to the organization and conduct of scientific research, provided advice on improving the manuscript and so on.

- REFERENCES should be stated in order of citation or in alphabetical order of authors or titles. The bibliographic description of used sources is presented according to the requirements of GOST 7.1:2006. In case of five or more authors in a reference source, it is accepted to state three authors and [etc].

- A list of references, which duplicates the list of sources in the main list, but is formatted in accordance with the requirements of international databases must be submitted as a separate block (REFERENCES). Namely, transliteration must be made for all the sources, which use the Cyrillic alphabet in the main list, and the name of the publication in which it is published must be translated into English. In addition, if the above literature sources has five or more authors, the list must indicate the names of all authors, without exception. Punctuation must be in accordance with foreign bibliographic standards. If List 1 has links to foreign publications, they are repeated in List 2, but punctuation marks are applied according to foreign bibliographic standards.

You can make use of the site <http://www.translit.ru>, which offers free of charge transliteration of Russian texts and <http://www.translit.kh.ua> for transliteration of Ukrainian text into Latin. The programs are very simple, and easy to use for references and transliteration of different parts of descriptions. After selecting the system BGN as an example, we get a picture of all the relevant letters. We paste the entire text of the bibliography into a special field and press the "Into translyt", in the second program into Ukrainian - "Convert". Then we make the necessary changes and additions.
